

Birthday Greetings for the month of February go to

*Indicates club member

1st Susanne Robbins
2nd Pauline Falardeau
Janice Strahan
3rd Dolores Languirand
*John McNamara
Donna McDonnell
4th *John Dean
Charles Purdy
6th Ernestine Tulumello
7th *Mary Liard
8th Jane Hilliard
Jeanne Gravel
9th Emanuella Walsh
10th Nancy Dow
11th Eleanor Brochu
Karen Hadley
12th *Betty Dean
Shirley Anderson
*Allan Trank
13th Francis Grimes
John Norton
Joyce Bergeron
John Borek
Sherry Cook
14th Bertha Moon
Cecelia Clements
15th *Michael Kloczkowski
Julienne Corbeil
16th Linda Bodwell
Susan Gray-McNamara
17th Patricia Casey
18th *Doris Renaud
MaryJane Mathewson
Muriel Reeder
Ruth Gray
20th Mary D'Angelo
21st Leslie Davis
Glen Knowles
*Robert Laflamme
23rd Rina Berthelette
26th *Laurie Kloczkowski

28th * Gabrielle Mullaly
* Alice Parker
*Pauline Noel

A very Happy Birthday to all of you
February babies!!

Senior Moment

American actor Osgood Perkins (1892-1937) was appearing in a play in which he had to stab another actor with a knife, when one day the prop man forgot to put the weapon on the table. Thinking fast to spare both the absentminded prop man and himself from embarrassment, Perkins kicked the actor in the rear. As the other actor fell down, Perkins announced to the audience, "Fortunately, the toe of my boot was poisoned!"

Ever Wonder Why and what we are supposed to tell the Marines?

"Tell it to the Marines" was the idea of an English king who used it to show people he wasn't as gullible as they might think. During the 17th century, King Charles III had a well deserved reputation as one of the less-shall we say- intellectual monarchs to sit on the throne of England. When informed by an officer of the Maritime Regiment of Foot that seamen recently returned from the east had seen flying fish and other amazing and unexplained sights, Charles demanded proof. Fortunately, one of the men had caught a fish and, after seeing its small "wings", the king believed him.

Thereafter, whenever he was told something that seemed patently fantastic, the monarch would say, "Tell it to the Marines." After all, these men had seen everything. If they believed it, so would he.

Taken from Why do Cowboys Wear High Heels

I bet that John McNamara knew this!!